Letters on Star's P.O. Position

EDITOR'S NOTE — Wide distribution through the Associated Press of The Star's editorial attacking municipal federal aid and the new Post office project for Hope has produced the following letters to The Editor.

Editor The Star: We note with great interest the sincere effort and demonstration you are making against excessive waste by the federal government. It generates a great feeling of promise for better things to come when a person such as you who can influence so many people through news media connections takes such a commendable stand. Good luck.

BEN MOORE
January 8, 1964
P. O. Box 909
Ardmore, Okla.

Editor The Star: Here is a feather for your cap! You deserve it! Wear it proudly.

When a citizen like you stands up and shouts to the nation the "folly of foolish spending" he is both sane and sensible.

You are to be commended for your public expression of wisdom. You may be criticized by the near-sighted, ridiculed by the illiterate, and crucified by the selfish, yet your name and that for which you stand will be glorified and magnified in the hearts and minds of the masses who appreciate your candor.

Truly, you have started something good, something big, something worth-while and effective. May it prove infectious all over the U.S.A.

Let's keep the ball a-rolling in the direction of economy.

MRS. MARY B. BALLEW

Ed Note: She attached AP clipping from Memphis Commercial Appeal, also a real feather — alas, it was a white feather. It should have been the color of blood.

Burned-Vote Issue Goes to Capital

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee members, preplexed as to what to do about a ballot burning incident, today sat back and waited while officials in Washington looked over a report on the matter.

The ASC Service division of the Agriculture Department will review a report on the burning of about 215 ballots in Tuesday's ASC community-committee election in Sharp County.

The ballots were burned at a store seven miles east of Ash Flat during an argument over voting. The state committee is trying to decide whether punitive action is in order.

It is also pondering whether to schedule another election at Ash Flat, which was one of nine polling places in the county.

Agriculture Department attorneys said apparently it is not against federal law to burn ballots in an election of ASC community committeemen, who select the three-member county committee which administers USDA programs.

Fulton Boy Greeted by Ailing Mother; Hope Lad Accompanies Him on Trip

CHICAGO (AP) — A boy gets homesick for his mother, and 16-year-old Jerry Leslie of Fulton, Ark., decided to do something about it. He hitchhiked 700 miles with a cast on his leg to see her.

Mrs. Cathrene Leslie was hospitalized in Chicago with tuberculosis.

Leslie, a ninth grader at Hope High School at Hope, Ark., and a cousin, Hubert Thompson, 15, also of Fulton, set out on the four-day journey that culminated in these words:

"Hi, Mom."

The words were spoken from behind hospital masks and the patient and the boys were cautioned to keep arm's length distance.

"How long you going to be here, Mom?" Jerry asked.

Mrs. Leslie, a widow, said she couldn't say for certain. Doctors say she is making good progress, but healing takes time.

"How is your leg?" she asked.

"Oh, just fine."

She put Jerry and Hubert in the care of her father-in-law, Jack Leslie, who lives in Chicago, and urged the boys not to stay too long and miss more school.

Mrs. Leslie's husband, Jack Jr., was killed seven years ago when hit by a train. The family then lived in Chicago. Mrs. Leslie took Jerry and her other child, Patricia, 13, back to her parents' home in Fulton.

She became ill in Fulton and was hospitalized at Booneville, Ark. She left the hospital before she was well and returned to Chicago to resume her former job as a waitress at the Museum of Science and Industry. Her health record was noted and she entered the Chicago Municipal Sanitarium, where she was visited Thursday.

Jerry, who lived with Mrs. John Cunningham of Fulton, and Hubert started their journey with $10.

"We've still got money," Jerry said. "Four dollars and fifty-five cents."

Fifteen rides after they started, sheriff's officers near Springfield, Ill., picked up the boys. When it was verified that they were on the way to Chicago to visit Mrs. Leslie, Frank Pickett, a heriff investigator, put the boys on a bus and paid the fare from Springfield to Chicago.

Jerry said the cast on his left leg didn't bother him too much, although it was a hindrance. It was the souvenir of a collision between a motor scooter Jerry was riding and an automobile near Fulton.

Jerry and Hubert didn't seem worried about getting back to Fulton. They lived on potato chips and soda pop on the way to Chicago, with a couple of meals thrown in.

Freeze Grips Mid-Section of America

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blast of icy air spread into the nation's midsection today, dropping temperatures to below zero in northern areas and ending a spell of fairly mild winter weather.

The core of the cold air centered in the Dakotas and Minnesota with the mercury dipping to 22 below zero in Aberdeen, S.D.

Readings of near zero to the teens were reported in other parts of the Midwest with temperatures in the 20s and 30s in wide sections in the central part of the country. The 20s were reported southward into sections of Texas and Kentucky.

Generally clear weather prevailed in the cold belt but fairly heavy snow was reported in parts of Michigan. Snow also was reported in northern Ohio and in sections of the Great Lakes.

In the Northwest, snow depths of one to two inches were reported in scattered interior sections, with rain in coastal areas.

Milkman and Garbage Guy Delighted by an Audience --But Quite Early, That Is

By STEVE ERICKSON

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—My postman, milkman and garbage man are waging a grim war of nerves with me. They are cunning adversaries.

The garbage man dislikes getting up early, and he hates garbage. In his profession, however, he is required to rise with the rooster.

Sometimes after he rattles empty cans for a while a light flicks on inside a house and an eyeball stares out.

I peeped through our blinds one morning, and he seemed happy at an audience. He performs once a week.

A little later — too late for breakfast — the milkman shows order. His mind is not on milk and cottage cheese. He is a wrong time-leaver. And quick on the get-away.

Our milkman leaves the richest blend of creamy milk instead of the skim milk we order. This makes my wife unhappy. It makes her husband fat. It makes our milkman chuckle as he drives away.

The ZIP code confuses our postman. He delivers our mail to the neighbors. I don't suppose they like getting our bills any more than we appreciate theirs.

My wife explains that he is trying to get the neighbors acquainted with each other. She calls him an unforgettable character.

"He's trying to bring warmth into our lives," she says. "I've tried about everything. One night I taped a note to the

Oswald Guilt Split Family in Factions

By BLAIR JUSTICE

Star-Telegram Writer
(Written for the AP)

FORT WORTH Tex. (AP) — The question of whether Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald believes her husband killed President John F. Kennedy revived raw feelings that split the Oswald family four days after the assassination.

After Oswald was fatally wounded by Jack Ruby Nov. 24, Secret Service agents took the accused assassin's widow, mother and brother to a motel in suburban Arlington.

Post Office Is Endorsed by 3 Groups

Organized public support for the proposed new $500,000 combination federal building and post office was asked today in an advertisement in The Star signed by the board of directors of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, the Hope Retail Promotion Association, and the board of directors of the City of Hope. The advertisement was paid for by the Hope Retail Promotion Association.

It said that all three organizations have endorsed the project and forwarded resolutions to Congressman Owen Harris.

The advertisement continued: "Postmaster Robert Wilson today again recalled that the local post office has been designated as a 'sectional center,' which is one of 12 in Arkansas."

"The operation of a sectional center, Mr. Wilson explained, would mean that the local post office would handle direct mail to and from 37 additional post offices embracing a large area of southwest Arkansas."

"At the present time the local office handles direct mail to and from 10 other post offices, plus six offices in Louisiana. The mail for offices between Hope and Shreveport was formerly handled by L. & A. railway postal clerks — but the L. & A. train that once ran from Hope to Shreveport has been discontinued."

Booklet on Farm Income Taxes

The Internal Revenue Service has a free booklet of tax advice for farmers of this area, Fred W. Johnson, District Director of Internal Revenue, announced today.

Called "Farmer's Tax Guide," it is available from county agents or the nearest Internal Revenue Office. The free booklet is written in non-technical language and contains numerous examples showing how tax rules apply in actual situations. A check list of farm income and expenses and a sample filled-in return form is included. On its back cover is a list of "Important Dates to Remember," which tells farmers when to pay income and social security taxes, file their returns, and do other things required by law.

While the booklet was written primarily to assist farmers in the preparation of their 1963 tax returns, it is also useful as a tax reference guide throughout the year.

Some Advice Upon Social Security

Otis A. Blackwood, District Manager of the Texasarkana Social Security Office advises that if you were a social security beneficiary in 1963; but continued to work, you must report your earnings for 1963 whether you earned wages from employment or net earnings from self-employment. You must file an earnings report with the Social Security Administration if you earned over $1200 during 1963; or, if you did not earn over $1200, and the Social Security Administration withheld checks for 1963 because you had originally planned on earnings over $1200.

Mr. Blackwood emphasizes that this report serves three main purposes:

1. To adjust social security payments according to the amount of earnings for 1963 and the amount of social security checks received. Since benefits may have been based on estimates of earnings earlier in 1963, a complete adjustment is not possible until the end of the year when your exact earnings are reported.

2. To obtain an estimate of earnings for 1964 so that the Social Security Administration will be able to determine how much money can be paid to you for the year.

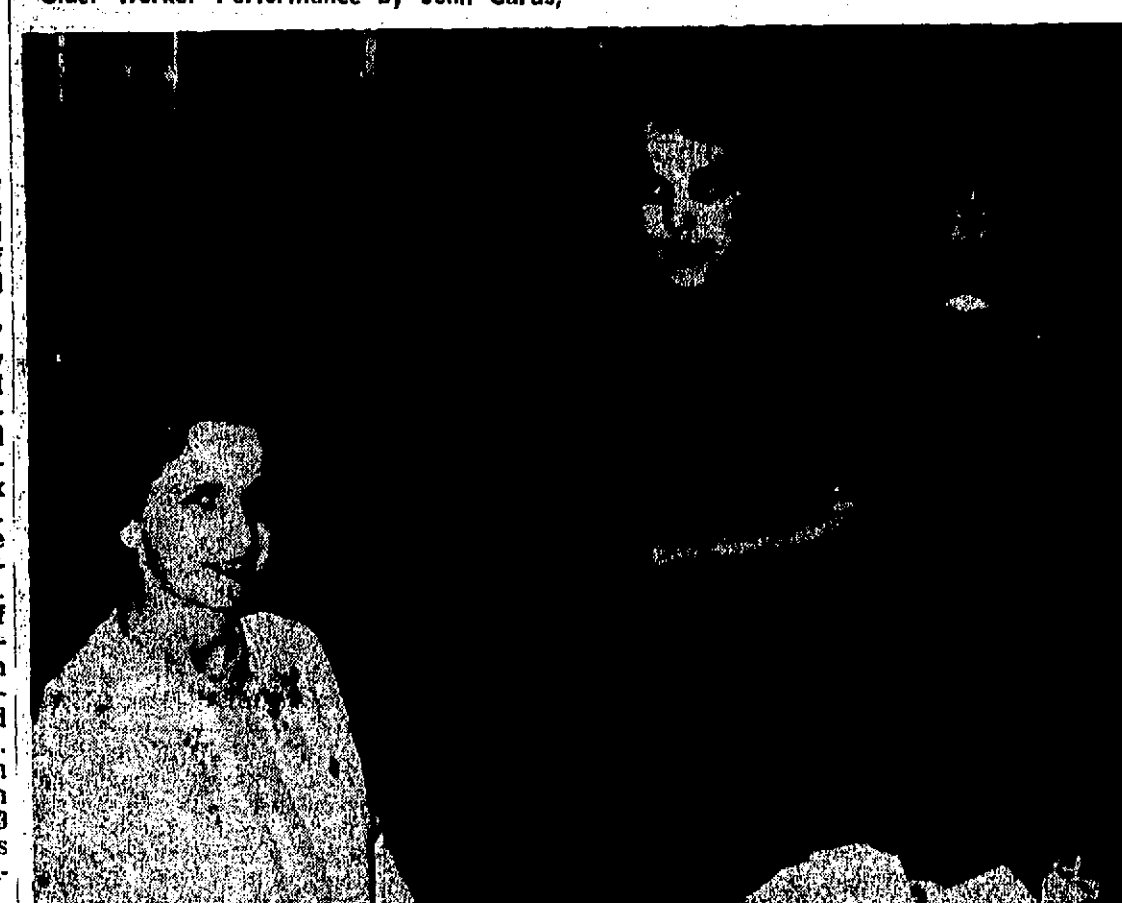

3. To consider whether or not your earnings in 1963 can increase the amount of the monthly check you now receive.

Blackwood, also states that, even though you may already be receiving benefits, the years of work after filing for social security can be considered for increasing your monthly benefit rate. This increase is not automatic; you must file an application for recomputation of your benefit rate at the social security office.

Employment Office Is Honored for Older Worker Achievement

TEDDY JONES, MIDDLE, MANAGER of the Hope Employment Security Division office, is presented the Gus Blass Award for Older Worker Achievement by John Caras, left, field supervisor of Little Rock. Mrs. Ward, president of Hope B.P.W. Club, looks on.

MRS. MABLE WARD, PRESIDENT, Langford of Hot Springs, immediate past speaks to the club while Mrs. Mary Jess, president of Arkansas B.P.W. Clubs, listens.

Tickets Go on Sale for C. C. Banquet

Tickets to the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet are now ready for distribution and are available at the Citizens and First National Banks as well as from W. L. Tate, chairman, at Hope Auto Co.

Local citizens are advised that a number of people interested in industrial and community development will be in attendance at the banquet. They include I. J. Steed and Duval Fagan of the Arkansas State Chamber from Little Rock; Roy Leonard of the industrial division of Arkansas Louisiana Gas and Bill fountain of Arkansas Power & Light.

George Timney representing Mountaire Poultry and John Hawkins of the highway commission, are both slated to attend. Representing railroads will be Tom Selover of Mo. Pac and W. O. Evans of Frisco.

Neighboring towns having representation will include: Texarkana, Magnolia, Stamps, Prescott and Nashville, with the president and director being on hand in most cases. Several news media people will also be on hand for the event.

Local residents who are interested in meeting these people are urged to get tickets early — only 175 will be sold.

REFUSED NEW NAME

SOUTH HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — The Township Committee voted unanimously Thursday night against a suggestion that this industrial community change its name to Jacqueline in honor of the widow of President John F. Kennedy.

'Torch' Book Sales Reach 1 1/2 Million

Local orders for the John F. Kennedy hard-cover book "The Torch Is Passed" have been closed out at 400 copies, Hope Star announces today. The Associated Press, which is handling production, has sent this newspaper one advance office copy — and it is magnificent.

Delivery of individual customer orders is expected some time this month, and will be announced when received by Hope Star. The price is $2 regardless whether books are delivered personally at the newspaper office or delivered by mail, postage prepaid.

A note on the Associated Press state wire says the New York office has total orders for one and one-half million copies. In this report AP says: "Our printer is turning out 50,000 copies a day at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and expects to be putting out additional books from a Wisconsin plant later this month."

"There have been bigger best-sellers than this but we do not know of any hard-cover book that has generated as many orders in just a month. Shipments will be made just as fast as the books become available."

"The Torch Is Passed" was produced by the main bureau staffs of AP under the direction of Keith Fuller, head of Associated Press Feature Service. Mr. Fuller is a former chief of bureau for AP at Little Rock. He came to Arkansas from the New Orleans bureau, and went from Little Rock to Denver, Colo., as chief of bureau there, then being promoted to the main office in New York City. Mr. Fuller has been a Hope visitor, guest in The Star publisher's home.

Panama Cuts Relations With U. S.

By LUIS NOLI
Associated Press Writer

PANAMA (AP) — New gun-fighting broke out today between U.S. troops and Panamanians on the border of the U.S. Canal Zone, adding more casualties to a toll of 10 dead and more than 200 wounded.

Among the dead were three U.S. soldiers. Thirty-four U.S. soldiers were wounded in the first fighting Thursday night. There were 190 Panamanian casualties including seven dead.

Panama suspended relations with the United States and accused it of aggression. The fighting broke out Thursday night when Panamanian students tried to plant their nation's flag in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone. They acted after U.S. students raised the American flag in defiance of American officials.

In Washington the Organization of American States called an emergency meeting of its council to consider the Panama crisis.

President Johnson was being closely briefed on events. He met with his top policy advisers then telephoned Panama's President Roberto Chiari this morning.

Panama was also carrying its case to the United Nations. Stopping off in Miami en route to New York, Aquilino Boyd, Panama's ambassador to the United Nations, accused the U.S. Army of opening fire on defenseless Panamanians.

The gunfire began to crackle again at 9 a.m. on the Pacific side of the canal.

Armed Panamanians gathered at the Presidential Palace in Panama City, less than 50 yards from the border with the Canal Zone city of Balboa. "This was where most of the fatalities" occurred Thursday night.

The violence grew out of a quarrel between U.S. residents of the Canal Zone and Panamanians over the display of U.S. and Panama flags. Under U.S.-Panama agreement details had been worked out for joint display of the banners at selected sites.

U.S. troops were killed in and Army rule proclaimed throughout the zone.

Panama's government accused the United States of aggression and sent its case to international forums after rioting broke out when Panamanian demonstrators tried to plant their national flag in the Canal Zone.

Bond Set on Twin Charge of Murder

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs of Hot Springs set bond of $10,000 Thursday for Fred H. Bartlett, 54, charged with two counts of first degree murder.

Bond was set after Walter Wright, chief deputy prosecutor, said at a hearing in the Circuit Court of Garland County that "the proof" of Bartlett's guilt "was not evident nor presumption great."

Bartlett, who was held in the Garland County Jail, is charged in the fatal shootings Oct. 3 of Mrs. Ruth Archer, 37, of Malvern and Mrs. Leta Mae Benning, 47, of Royal, a community near Hot Springs.

Budget Cut May Hit River Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Thursday that President Johnson's economy drive might cut into funds for the Arkansas River navigation project, but the state will not be penalized. "I'll be willing to take a close look and go along if I have evidence there are cuts on most other things in an effort to bring the budget near to balance," McClellan said.

Reds Want Aid, Avoid Arms Cut

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency says the Kremlin wants to buy large amounts of Western chemical machinery on long-term credit so as not to hamper Soviet arms production.

CIA's conclusions about Russia's economic woes were issued Thursday in CIA's first general press briefing since the secret agency was set up after World War II.

The United States has been trying to persuade its allies, so far unsuccessfully, to bar long term credit on Red purchases. But a CIA spokesman denied trying to influence policy by airing the agency's views publicly.

He said CIA's aim was to make public information gathered by its experts on a subject where the customary secrecy label could be removed without harm, and that CIA may give out further data later. It was understood President Johnson approved the action.

According to CIA's analysis, the Soviet economy has run into such deep trouble that Premier Khrushchev can achieve his chemical industry expansion goals by paring other programs or through long term credits from the West.

Soviet import requirements for Western chemical machinery and equipment, mainly to produce fertilizers, were estimated at $2 billion over the next few years. Credits from the industrial West totaled $600 million in 1962-63. Khrushchev's seven-year chemical industry expansion plan calls for a $46 billion investment over-all.

Noting Khrushchev's call last month for Western credits, the CIA said "the current Soviet push for new foreign credits and extended repayment terms is directly related to Moscow's desire to prevent the chemical program from impinging too directly on the production of military end items."

Mo. Pac. to Take Up Spa Rail Iron

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A spokesman for the Missouri Pacific Lines, which will have no passenger service between Little Rock and Hot Springs after Jan. 20, said Thursday the railroad hopes to take up 21.4 miles of track between Benton and Hot Springs.

MoPac said it intends to continue freight runs between Little Rock and Hot Springs by using Rock Island Railroad tracks from Benton to Hot Springs.

The railroad applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission last June 25 for permission to remove the track, which parallels U.S. Highway 70.

Report to Outside

HOPE, Ark. (AP)—The Hope Chamber of Commerce and the Hope Retail Promotion Association joined the city Board of Directors today in advocating construction of a proposed $500,000 post office and federal building.

The three groups made the move in a large advertisement in the Hope Star, a newspaper whose editor and publisher, Alex Washburn, vigorously opposes the proposal and is sponsoring a petition campaign to stop it.

Washburn said he would have no editorial comment today on the ad or the position it states. "It's our policy to give the other fellow a chance to have his say," Washburn said, "but we will discuss this in later editions."

The ad quoted Hope Postmaster Robert Wilson as saying that additional postal facilities are needed because the Post Office Department plans to make the Hope Post Office a sectional center to handle mail to and from 47 other cities in Arkansas and in Louisiana.

Hope now handles mail for 10 other cities in Arkansas.

Wilson also was quoted as saying that a new building would permit placing all government agencies in Hope under one roof.

Rangers in Win Streak of 4 Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the first time in five years the New York Rangers have a four-game winning streak in the National Hockey League and they deny emphatically that they intend to trade star winger Andy Bathgate.

At almost the same time that the Rangers whipped the Bruins 5-3 at Boston Thursday night, Muzz Patric, vice president and general manager, said in New York that the "management of the Rangers has no deals pending at this time involving the trading of Andy Bathgate or any other players on its current roster."

Virtually overlooked in the furor over the Bathgate trade rumor was the 5-3 victory of the Detroit Red Wings over the slumping first place Chicago Black Hawks in Thursday's other scheduled NHL game.

The Bathgate incident followed published reports in the Toronto Star and the New York Journal-American.

Goalie Jacques Plante came up with 46 saves and Phil Goyette contributed three assists as the Rangers beat Boston for their longest winning streak since November 1958.

The victory kept the Rangers within five points of Detroit and the last playoff spot. Playing on home ice the Red Wings beat the Black Hawks as Larry Jeffery led the attack with two goals.

The Hawks now have lost three of their last four games and lead Toronto and Montreal, tied for second, by only three points, 49 to 46. Detroit has 35, New York 30 and Boston 22.

DOROTHY DIX

HUSBAND THINKS SHE WAS BORN YESTERDAY

By Helme Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My husband gave me a song and dance this weekend about certain things I found in his car—irrefutable evidence of him having been out with another woman. He insists somebody else planted them there to cause trouble. He must think I was born yesterday!

I came upon the items by chance while I was washing the car. When I confronted him with them he began yelling that I had no business to touch his car then—as I burned the items before his very eyes—he counterattacked by accusing me of cheating on him. I never felt so soiled in all my life.

One thing led to another and soon we were both talking at the top of our lungs, with our little boy crying because his Mommy and Daddy were fighting.

Then I quieted down and told my husband very clearly that if he thought he had anything to matter what he had done it but I was not divorcing him not matter what he had done for I loved him too much.

He grabbed his hat, stomped out the door and came back five and a half hours later dead drunk. He was still grumpy yesterday. Last night he went out, saying he was going to his club. Our son took sick as I phoned the club to ask him to come home. He wasn't there. When he finally came home, he insisted he had been at the club all the time, so what am I supposed to believe? I found bobby pins in his suit coat pocket this morning. I haven't worn bobby pins in years.

We're both young—he 28, I 26 and our boy just 4. I want my husband back. What can I do to make him see his place is with his wife and child—not that other woman?—Deserted.

Dear Deserter: If you sincerely love your husband, stop checking up on him. Your spying will only alienate him further. Show him you have faith in his innate goodness—goodness which even a blackguard possesses.

Give him to understand that, knowing the worst, you still expect the best. Remind him that marriage is a full-time partnership and as such will weather any storm provided you pull together. In truth, your marriage will be all the stronger of having survived this tempest. Give him my leaflet "Philandering" to read. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: You recently published a letter from "Puzzled and Helpless," a young wife who was pregnant and caring for her tubercular mother, but you made no mention of the danger to her own health. The oldest method of spreading this dread disease is by home care. The young wife should leave her parents' house at once, or see that her mother is moved to a sanatorium specializing in the disease. Periodic check-ups may save her later trouble. I hope she never has to say, "If I had only known!"—L. C. U.

Dear L.: My province is human emotions, not medicine. Since this young wife was pregnant, she would naturally be under a doctor's care and it would be his place, not mine, to advise her on this question. Nevertheless, I publish your letter as an added warning to her.

Dear Helen: My boy friend and I are trying to see which of us can make the other the most jealous and it just isn't working. Ours has been an off-again-on-again romance chiefly because of his drinking.

He tells me he loves me too much. I truly love him but am so mixed up I don't know what to do. Maybe if he reads this and your answer he will straighten up.—A Girl Who Is Confused

Dear Girl: If your boy friend was sincere in his love he wouldn't tattle or try to make you jealous. The only way to reform him is to call a halt on future dating until he straightens up. Maybe he will, maybe he won't, depending upon the quality of his love.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Panama Cuts

The Panamanian students moved in after U.S. students in the zone raised the American flag in defiance of orders from U.S. zone officials.

Panama's ambassador to the United Nations, Aquilino Boyd, was en route to U.N. headquarters to file the charges of aggression with the U.N. Security Council.

In bitter words he told newsmen at Miami: "Panama has been the victim of unjustified oppression for 50 years."

He accused U.S. soldiers of causing unnecessary bloodshed. President Roberto Chiari of Panama demanded that the Organization of American States launch an immediate investigation.

He vowed "to obtain justice for Panama once and for all" before whatever international bodies are necessary.

President Johnson was being kept advised of the situation.

At the Pentagon in Washington, a Defense Department spokesman said there are no plans to send troop reinforcements into the Canal Zone.

About 10,000 Army troops, plus a small number of Air Force, Navy and Marine personnel, are stationed there customarily.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson conferred by telephone today with President Roberto Chiari of Panama, in an effort to settle peacefully the crisis in Panama.

Johnson initiated the 15-minute telephone conference. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, declined to give details of the conversation, except to say: "The two presidents agreed there had to be a stop to the violence in the Canal Zone."

Almost simultaneously, Johnson sent a group of U.S. officials to the Canal Zone by jet transport.

The leader of the delegation is Thomas C. Mann, the new assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Mann is expected to confer personally with Chiari about the fighting.

The White House issued a statement saying Johnson has given "most earnest instructions" to Gen. Andrew O'Meara, the U.S. Army commander in the Canal Zone, "to do all that is within his power to restore and to maintain peace and safety in the Canal Zone."

Salinger was asked whether there had been any discussion of the possibility that the Republic of Panama might seek assistance from U.S. forces in restoring order. Salinger said this had not been discussed.

The Mann delegation is due at the Canal Zone at 7 p.m. EST.

Assigned to accompany Mann were Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance, the top American official responsible for operation of the Canal Zone; Edwin Martin, Mann's predecessor as an assistant secretary of state; and Ralph Dungan, a presidential assistant who has specialized in Latin-American affairs.

Oswald Guilt

closed drama was played out, involving the family, Secret Service agents and a few of Oswald's friends.

The mother and daughter-in-law parted in separate directions. This week, their differences were bare again.

Marina, the pretty Russian-born widow, said she was convinced of her husband's guilt. Oswald's mother said Marina must be confused.

Last November at the motel, the conflict concerned who would take care of Marina and her two daughters, June Lee, who will be 2 in February, and Rachael, then one month old. Oswald's mother contended Marina and the babies should move to her three-room duplex in Fort Worth.

She said they could live off day because of high blood pressure and weakness but was allowed up Thursday.

Nehru came here to attend the annual conference of his ruling Congress party, which ends today.

Informed sources said Nehru probably will fly back to New Delhi Saturday.

The man cleaning the post office after it closed in Rockville last Saturday had a mop with a cloth cover which did a quick, easy, and good job. I admired it and asked what it cost. He told me the government had unlimited funds. I told him:

"No. That is your money and my money, and it costs too much. I couldn't afford to buy mop jackets like that."

Oswald's brother, Robert, thought Marina and the babies should find a place of their own.

The mother said one or two of the Secret Service agents guarding them joined the argument. She also said a man who taught Russian at the Forth Worth library sided with Robert.

"I didn't even know what had been decided for Marina and the babies. They planned it all without even asking me. I asked them what the big idea was," Oswald's mother said.

Mrs. Oswald said Marina was confused, barely knew English and was unduly influenced by those who urged her to live separately.

The mother announced she was leaving the motel, regardless of what the agents wanted. She didn't see her daughter-in-law or grandchildren again.

Edward Shippen favored the impending marriage of his youngest daughter to America's most distinguished combat officer. The future bridegroom, still harried by his enemies on the Pennsylvania Executive Council, was so eager to see the property on the Hudson River that he traveled to Poughkeepsie in February, 1779. The estate, however, proved to be so expensive that he was forced to abandon his hope of buying it.

He returned to Philadelphia in March. Although his wounded leg was still bothering him, he conducted an extensive and vigorous correspondence with a committee appointed by the Continental Congress to investigate Pennsylvania's charges against him. Convinced he would be exonerated, his spirits remained high, and when Leut. Col. Alexander Hamilton came to the city to see him late in the month, he received his unexpected visitor graciously.

"You'll be pleased to hear that you've been cleared of most of the charges, sir," Hamilton chose his words carefully. "Most of them?" Benedict demanded. "Of what crimes do they find me guilty?"

"None, General," his guest assured him. "But they have discovered enough evidence to warrant a military investigation, and the Congress has directed General Washington to form a board of inquiry."

"You mean a courtmartial?" "Well, yes."

The Commander-in-Chief's aide took a sheet of paper from his inner pocket and unfolded it. "First, you're accused of giving a pass to a merchant vessel in which you own a part

Actually Hannah would realize that Peggy was not self-centered, empty-headed, but a highly intelligent young woman with her own ideas, convictions and standards.
The bride responded gaily to the toasts of her relatives and friends, but the 38-year-old bridegroom took token sips of wine and patiently waited for an opportune moment to leave.
At last Peggy retired to her room, accompanied by her sisters, to change from her white gown into a dress of blue silk, her husband's favorite color. Then the guests gathered at the entrance and on the steps to cheer, and Benedict led his bride to their waiting carriage.

The streets were deserted as they rode to the mansion of the military governor, accompanied by an escort of cavalymen. Peggy chatted animatedly, displaying none of a bride's traditional nervousness on her wedding night.
